

Dear Valued Customer,

We are writing to share an important update regarding changes to the branding and labeling of our products following acquisition of Edwards Lifesciences' Critical Care business by BD (Becton Dickinson) now referred to as Advanced Patient Monitoring.

What You Can Expect

Over the coming months, you may notice the BD name, logo, and updated design elements consistent with BD's global brand standards applied to our packaging, labeling, and marking on the product itself.

While the packaging, labeling and branding will change, the product model numbers will stay the same. At this time, no action is needed.

To support a smooth transition, we have included side-by-side examples in this communication illustrating the current Edwards branded packaging alongside the new BD branded packaging. During the transition period, you may see both BD branded and Edwards branded product in circulation at the same time. This is expected and part of a phased inventory transition designed to prevent supply disruption.

In addition to seeing both BD branded and Edwards branded product at the same time, in the US you will continue to see invoices come from Edwards even though the product may say BD.

If you have any questions regarding this transition, contact your BD representative or call Technical Support at 1-800-822-9837.
