

Identifying CAUTI risk factors starts with you.

Catheter Care Awareness Week

In 2025, the Association for Professionals in Infection Control and Epidemiology (APIC), released the Guide to Preventing Catheter-Associated Urinary Tract Infections (CAUTI) – a comprehensive resource that transforms the latest scientific evidence and best practices into practical strategies for reducing the risk of CAUTI across various healthcare settings.

By guiding appropriate catheter use and promoting alternative urine management options, this resource reinforces core goals of Catheter Care Awareness Week: improving patient safety through informed, evidence-based care.
